

Introducing Ryan Sampath and Charlene Manicchan, the dynamic duo behind River Mountain Metal Roofing:

Meet Ryan Sampath, President of River Mountain Metal Roofing, and his wife, Charlene Manicchan, the dedicated co-owner and Chief Operations Officer. Together, they lead a manufacturing and supplying company specializing in metal roofing panels and trims, bringing a wealth of expertise and passion to the industry.

Originally hailing from Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada with a rich blend of Canadian and Caribbean heritage, Ryan and Charlene made the bold decision to pursue their entrepreneurial dreams and establish River Mountain Metal Roofing. With Ryan's 15 years of experience as a professional mechanical engineer and Charlene's decade-long tenure in quality assurance and compliance, they form a formidable team dedicated to delivering top-notch products and services.

Family and community lie at the heart of Ryan and Charlene's values. As proud parents of two energetic boys, Jake and Josh, they cherish every moment spent together, whether it's hiking amidst the breathtaking landscapes of British Columbia or exploring the natural wonders of Florida. Their love for the outdoors extends to camping, road trips, and immersing themselves in nature's beauty.

Beyond their professional endeavors, Ryan and Charlene are committed to giving back to society and building new friendships within the community, embodying the spirit of generosity and camaraderie. With a shared passion for innovation, design, and quality, they are poised to make a lasting impact in the metal roofing industry while fostering meaningful connections along the way.

Join Ryan, Charlene, and the River Mountain Metal Roofing family as they embark on a journey of excellence, integrity, and community engagement. Whether you're in need of metal roofing solutions or simply looking to connect with like-minded individuals, Ryan and Charlene welcome you with open arms to experience the warmth and dedication that define their business ethos. Welcome to River Mountain Metal Roofing, craftsmanship meets compassion, and every project is infused with passion and dedication.